MY LOVE

it was so nice, to see you are not scared to visiting me the time will bring hopefully more, i am prepared, we will see i am sitting here alone, feel lonely and thinking at you thinking about the time we had, thinking what you do you told me you haven't time, i have to be patience and i should understand i try my dear love, even it is hard to wait and sometimes i think i can't to have you not by my side makes me more thinking at you my feelings are killing me, they turning inside like hell, but i am positive too to get no kisses and cuddle, hurts when your are soooo close to me i have to wait for the right time you said, i know, even it should not be don't worry i can handle my self a lot and i can wait for all but my mom told me once, be prepared also for the worst, also when you fall writing some words, out of my head, listening some song and sing my thoughts are fighting and i don't know what it bring i am sad and happy at the same, but my feelings for you are real and great please don't let me wait, don't let me fall, even i said i am willing to wait my tears dropping out whenever i write some poems to you i can't do anything, i wouldn't like to stop, because they are true my heart is crying, my body is craving and my thoughts are searching for the why i listen deep down to my soul, looking for answers and hope you not denied i need you, i need you, i need your right now, comes out of my speakers and my mind is screaming the same i really go crazy to must wait until the weekend for see you again my dear love i miss you sooooo much, you can't imagine what it means for me like i said before, the time will bring hopefully more, i am prepared, we will see

Karl Schnürch

Seychelles, 2017