THOUGHTS

there are all my thoughts they are all not easy to handle i would like to move on but its like to turn on a candle there is that fire it is hot an could be painful but im not scared about it because im also respectful my feelings are no more a secret i told you all whats inside in me now its up to you what will it be my dear i don't know what else to say im sitting here with all my thoughts and thinking at you where does it go what should i do
